We believe in change. Helping our clients creating a proud reflection, working with partner organisations to break down barriers to fitness and improve wellbeing in hard-to-reach communities as well as working with highly talented personal trainers to develop their skills and knowledge.

Recent success at the National Fitness Awards, becoming the Best Outdoor Facility of the Year 2023 and other recognised awards has generated a great deal of exposure and recognition in the fitness industry and instilled further trust amongst our clients and partners.

As part of an expansion plan, Fitness Rush is looking to recruit an outstanding person who shows promise towards becoming an exceptional Personal Trainer who can excel working on our community initiatives. They will be ready to learn the ropes alongside the company founder, and learn a number of new skills, including gaining experience generating and closing new client relationships. They will share our passion for helping clients surpass their goals and create a proud reflection in a welcoming, inclusive, and relaxed environment. They will also learn how to create lasting relationships with clients.

In return, they will receive generous compensation, advice and support in marketing as well as opportunities to develop skills and responsibilities in line with the business. They will be joining a dynamic and enthusiastic team that enjoy working with each other.

They will also get to share their life experiences and passion with those who experience barriers to fitness, training them to have a potential career in personal training as well as improving their wellbeing.

The successful applicant will be an important part of the community outreach team and tasked with delivering personal exercise and eventually fitness qualification experiences to individuals who are typically excluded from physical activity for various reasons.

This position is initially for an internship lasting 13 weeks, with an expected start date of September/October 2024, and the possibility of a further offer of employment at the end of the internship.

OUR PRINCIPLES

At Fitness, we believe in four key principles:

Clients Come First: We are under no illusion that Fitness Rush would not be what it is today without the support from its clients, associates, and colleagues, so your wellbeing and success is at the forefront of our priorities.

We Go Further: We understand time is precious and clients cannot always find time to visit us. That is why we have developed our mobile training facility to visit individuals and put resources in place, so they are never more than one click away from their answers. Whether it be concerning nutrition, training, or anything else, we are ready to listen and deliver the support they need.

We know that some people experience serious barriers to fitness, resulting in a shorter life with more medical complications. We work with local partners to ensure those that need exercise the most receive it. We work with people who are homeless, elderly and frail, and have mental health issues.

Honesty is our Policy: We have found the best way to encourage you to the finish line is being honest with our clients about their progress but with their best interests at heart. We push them further and the positive results speak for themselves.

Only the Best: We have handpicked a team of specialist professionals who can take clients further. Whether it be special dietary needs, specific training goals or just a caring motivator, we have everyone covered.
